COMMISSIONER LAWRENCE F. O'BRIEN

Lawrence F. O'Brien, 60, was elected the third Commissioner in the 32-year history of the National Basketball Association on April 30, 1975. He succeeded Walter Kennedy, who had served since 1963. Maurice Podoloff was the league's first Commissioner, serving from 1946 until 1963. In his short time in office, O'Brien has brought the Oscar Robertson suit to a conclusion, helped bring about a new collective bargaining agreement with the players, negotiated an expansion agreement with the American Basketball Association, and signed the most lucrative television contract in league history. A native of Springfield, Mass., O'Brien received his law degree from Northeastern University in 1942. He directed John F. Kennedy's senate campaigns in 1952 and 1958 and his presidential campaign in 1960, following which he became Democratic national chairman. Starting in 1961 he was special assistant for congressional relations to Presidents Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and then in 1965 was named Postmaster General. In 1968 he again was named Democratic National Chairman, and it was his offices which were burglarized in 1972 in the Watergate complex. O'Brien's autobiography "No Final Victories" was published by Doubleday in 1974 and reprinted by Ballantine in paperback form in 1975. He is married to the former Elva Brassard of Springfield, Mass., and son, Lawrence F. O'Brien, III, is an attorney in New York.

RAY PATTERSON
PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

Ray Patterson of the Houston Rockets, along with Jerry Colangelo of the Phoenix Suns, has been an N.B.A. general manager for ten years, a tenure longer than anyone in the league except Boston's Red Auerbach and New York's Eddie Donovan.

The regard with which Patterson is held is exemplified by the watch he wears as the 1977 award voted by his peers as the Sporting News N.B.A. Executive of the Year. And he also wears a World Championship ring as president and general manager of the 1971 Milwaukee Bucks whose fortunes he guided before joining the Rockets in 1972. And there is nothing he would like better than to bring title rings to Houston.

"We are serving notice to this city that we are doing everything humanly possible to bring a World Championship here," said Patterson last June 17 in announcing that the Rockets had signed All-Star forward Rick Barry. "This is a great city, one of unlimited optimism. Many times this franchise could have folded but the city wouldn't let it happen. Last season we had our worst season ever here, coming on the heels of our best year ever. Despite the losing record, our attendance increased as a hard corps of fans has developed over the years."

Prior to the 1976-77 season, Patterson brought in Tom Nissalke as head coach and added newcomers John Lucas, Moses Malone and Dwight Jones to veteran Rockets Rudy Tomjanovich, Calvin Murphy and Mike Newlin. The Rockets surprised with a 49-33 record, the Central Division title, and advancement to the Eastern Conference playoff finals.

Last season the team was blasted by injuries and the record dipped to 28-54. The seven players who saw the most action in the 1977 playoffs were together for only 17 games as Tomjanovich missed three-fourths of the season, Newlin half a year, and Malone a quarter of the campaign.

"With our players returning healthy, I thought we would challenge for the division title again," said Patterson, "but I have a gut feeling that Barry is going to be a catalyst for our team. It may have been easy to sit back and wait for the wounded to heal, but that's not what this city deserves."

Born in Lafayette, Ind., Patterson graduated from Wayland Academy in Beaver Dam, Wis., and then earned Bachelor and Master's degrees at the University of Wisconsin. As a 6-3 center he played four years of varsity basketball, being team captain, leading scorer and most valuable player in his final two seasons.

He played three years with the Flint, Mich. team in the old National Basketball League, and then, after a year as an assistant coach at Wisconsin, he returned to Wayland Academy as basketball coach in 1949. In 1954 he was named president and headmaster of the school. In 1957 he hired present Rockets coach Nissalke as basketball coach there, Nissalke having played for Patterson earlier at Wayland.

When Milwaukee received an N.B.A. franchise in 1968, Patterson was named first president of the team and guided the Bucks to a World Championship, two division titles and three playoff spots in his four years there. He was named to his position with the Rockets on May 1, 1972.

Patterson and his wife Ruth reside in Sugarland, Tx. Oldest son Pat lives in California; Steve and Liz are students at the University of Texas, while Peggy and Peter are at home.

TOM NISSALKE
HEAD COACH — HOUSTON ROCKETS

A season ago, Tom Nissalke, head coach of the Houston Rockets, guided the club to the Central Division title with a 49-33 record, tops in the history of the franchise. His youthful team extended Philadelphia to six games in the Eastern Conference playoff final. And Nissalke was voted Coach of the Year.

Yet, in the season past, when, beset by injury, the Rockets crashed to the bottom of the division, Nissalke probably did a better coaching job than in the previous year. Though success may not be evidenced by the 28-54 record, most observers credit him with an outstanding coaching effort.

"In a season like the Rockets had, the locker room was not a glad place," noted a writer," but it wasn't a snakepit. Watch a Rockets practice and see the energy exerted; see how they react when they're too far behind and there's too little time to catch up. On all counts they have to be given a top grade for effort, and that grade is an extension of the coach."

Nissalke said it was his most frustraing season: "We had to scrap all our plans. After losing Rudy Tomjanovich, then Mike Newlin, then Moses Malone, we had to accept that we weren't going to win many games. But we talked it over with the players, telling them that to be fair to themselves and to the fans, we would do the best job possible with the greatest effort with the talent we had left." That his appeal worked was best described by another writer: "They won only 28 games and those guys still get along."

A look at some figures shows that the Rockets last season never gave up. The bench was just not there as it had been a year ago. In the great 1976-77 season, Houston was 26-14 in games decided by nine points or less. Last year the mark was 13-28.

The addition of Rick Barry to the return to health of the injured crew plus the pro experience gained by the younger players should give Nissalke that bench strength again as he begins his third campaign as head coach of the Rockets and his eighth year as a pro head coach. Nissalke, Alex Hannum and Bill Sharman are the only coaches to have been named coach of the year in both the N.B.A. and in the A.B.A.

Born in Madison, Wis., Nissalke played prep basketball under Rockets president Ray Patterson at Wayland Academy in Beaver Dam, Wis. Following a tour of Army duty, he graduated from Florida State in 1957 and returned to Wayland as head basketball coach for five years. After a year as an assistant at the University of Wisconsin, he was an assistant coach for five years at Tulane.

His pro career began in Milwaukee in 1968 as an assistant to Larry Costello. The 1970-71 Bucks captured the World Championship, and Nissalke took his first head coaching post in the pros with the A.B.A. Dallas Chaparrals for the 1971-72 season. He moved over as head man with Seattle the following season, then returned to A.B.A. in 1973 with San Antonio. He started the 1974-75 season as head coach of the Spurs and ended it as head coach of the Utah Stars. He began the next season with the Stars but the franchise folded after 16 games. He next scouted for the Milwaukee Bucks until hired to replace John Egan as head coach of the Rockets on April 20, 1976.

Tom, his wife, Nancy, and their two children, Tom, 13, and Holly, 11, reside in Conroe.

DEL HARRIS, ASSISTANT

Del Harris starts his third season as assistant coach of the Rockets, having been named to the post August 14, 1976. Prior to joining Houston, he was an assistant coach at the University of Utah and an assistant to Tom Nissalke with the A.B.A. Utah Stars. A native of Plainfield, Ind., he is a 1959 graduate of Milligan (Tenn.) College and received a Master's degree in history from Indiana U. After coaching five years in the high school ranks at Johnson City, Tenn., Roachdale, Dale and Spencer, Ind., compiling a 79-36 record, he served nine years as head coach at Earlham, Ind. College, compiling a 175-70 mark, and taking teams to seven straight post season tournaments. He also has coached in the European and Puerto Rican pro leagues. He has had two books published by Prentice-Hall's Parker Division, "Multiple Defenses for Winning Basketball" (1971) and "Coaching Basketball's Zone Offense" (1976). He and his wife, Joyce, reside in Alief, with their four children: Larry, 16; Alex, 14; Stan, 10; and Carey Ann, 9.

DICK VANDERVOORT, TRAINER

Dick Vandervoort has been the trainer and traveling secretary of the Houston Rockets for the past seven years, following 11 years as head athletic trainer at Washington State University. A native of Concordia, Kan., he graduated from the University of Kansas in 1958 and served for one year as the trainer at Wichita State before going to Washington State. One of the N.B.A.'s senior trainers, Vandervoort is currently chairman of the National Association of Basketball Trainers. The father of two sons, Mark, 15, and Todd, 13, Dick and his wife, Concetta, reside in Greenwood Forest.

GENE PETERSON, BROADCASTER

Gene Peterson starts his fourth season as the play-by-play Voice of Houston Rockets on both radio and television. He is the fourth broadcaster the team has had, succeeding Jerry Gross (1967-69), Bill Howard (1969-70), and Art Eckman (1970-75). Prior to joining the Rockets, Peterson was Sports Director of KPRC Radio in Houston for a year. A native of Albert Lea, Minn., he studied at the Brown Institute in Minneapolis. After three years of Air Force duty, he started his radio career in 1963 with KBRK in Brookings, S.D. He also has worked at WECL in Eau Claire, Wix.; KOB in Albuquerque, N.M., and KCMO in Kansas City, Mo. He and his wife, Marsha, reside in Kingwood with Todd, 15; Jennifer, 12; and Paul, 6.

RICK BARRY 6-8 215 Forward

Age: 34 Birthdate: March 28, 1944
Birthplace: Elizabeth, New Jersey
High School: Roselle Park, N.J.
College: Miami (Fla.), 1965
Years Pro: 12
How Acquired: Signed As Free Agent, June 17, 1978
NBA High Game: 64, with Golden State Vs. Portland, Mar. 26, 1974
Married: Wife Pam
Children: Richard IV, 11; Jon, 8; Brent, 6; Drew, 5; Shannon, 4

Where does the list of accomplishments of Rick Barry begin, and where will it end? There isn't too much he hasn't achieved, but on signing as a free agent with the Houston Rockets last June, Rick Barry just sort of gave the impression that before he gives up the sport, he might like to have another NBA championship ring. Most Valuable Player of the 1975 playoffs while leading the Golden State Warriors to the World Championship. Nine times first team All-League, five times in the NBA, four in the ABA. The only player ever to lead both leagues in scoring. NBA Rookie of the Year in 1966. 12 times selected to play in the All-Star Game and MVP of the 1967 NBA Classic. Never lower than 13th in the league in scoring, twice leading his league and four times placing second. First or second in free throw percentage every pro season, four times leading the NBA and three times the ABA. The NBA's all-time free throw leader with an .896 percentage and holder of the consecutive free throw record of 60. NBA steals leader in 1975. 15 NBA and four ABA games of 50 or more points, with a high of 64. The nation's leading college scorer with a 37.4 mark at Miami in 1965. Super-star credentials. But upon signing with the Rockets, the 6-8 Barry wanted it to be known: "I'm not coming in here as any big super-star who's going to lead the Rockets out of the hinterland. I don't feel that's what they have in mind for me or I wouldn't be here. This is a fine team that just missed the final round a season ago. The potential of this team is why I'm here. The offensive capabilities are awesome and I am excited to be a part of it." New teammate Rudy Tomjanovich echoes the sentiments of the other Rockets: "Rick is one of the most respected players ever to play the game. All of us greatly appreciate his talent. He'll make us all better players." Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke says Rick is one of the "very few who have what I call 'presence,'" or just a great overview of what's going on. Oscar Robertson had it, maybe a few others." The Rockets had to give up brilliant young guard John Lucas and a hundred thousand dollars to compensate the Warriors for Barry, but over the next couple of seasons, the benefits reaped should be well worth the effort.

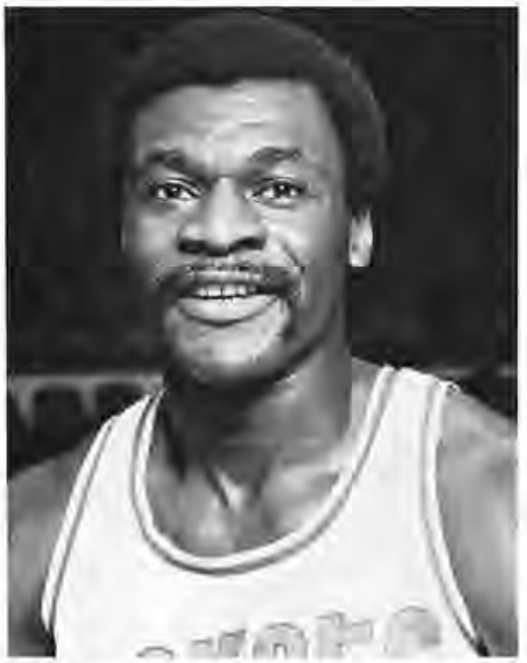
DWIGHT JONES 6-10 225 Center
Age: 26 Birthdate: February 27, 1952
Birthplace: Houston, Texas
High School: Wheatley
College: Houston, 1974
Years Pro: 5
How Acquired: Trade from Atlanta for Gus Bailey and Joe Meriweather and Exchange of 1st Round Picks, June 7, 1976
NBA High Game: 33, with Atlanta Vs. Houston, March 2, 1974
Married: Wife Diane
Child: Dwikeesha Diante, 3

With the departure of John Lucas, Dwight Jones is the only returning Rocket to have played in all 82 games last season, and he started at forward in 50, posting his best scoring season ever, 10.6 per game, while grabbing 7.8 rebounds. Despite all his playing time at forward last season, Coach Tom Nissalke believes that center is a more natural position for Dwight. "He played center in high school and in college, was the center for the U.S. Olympic team in 1972 and was in the pibot with the Hawks," says the Rockets mentor, "and I feel he can be most helpful to us there." Dwight is the only Rocket who can really call Houston "home," having been born here and then leading Wheatley High to a 101-2 record and three Texas state titles, and then going on to star at the University of Houston for two varsity seasons as the Cougars had a 43-11 mark and earned two NCAA berths. Leaving school following his junior season, he was a first round choice, the 9th player taken, in the 1974 draft by Atlanta. Though he started all those games at forward last season, following the mid-February injury to Moses Malone, he logged quite a bit of time at the center spot, and was third on the club in rebounds, trailing only Malone and the departed Kevin Kunnert. Dwight was 6-3 when he was in the seventh grade at E. O. Smith Junior High and was cut from the B team, but playing summer basketball around Finnegan Park with older players like Dave Lattin, Elvin Hayes and Don Chaney taught him a lot about the game and by the time he reached the varsity level at Wheatley, he was acclaimed as the best player in the state. One of the few players in the NBA to wear number 13, Dwight says: "Wilt Chamberlain was always my idol and I don't think the number was unlucky for him." One of the moves Dwight has developed over the years is a turn-around to the basket for a driving lay-up with either hand. "I've worked on developing my left hand because you always seem to get overplayed on the right. I just hope I can contribute to a winning situation again this year. There's nothing compared to that feeling of winning that we had a season ago."

MOSES MALONE 6-10 235 Center

Age: 23 Birthdate: March 25, 1955
Birthplace: Petersburg, Virginia
High School: Petersburg
No College
Years Pro: 4
How Acquired: From Buffalo for two 1st Round Draft Picks, October 25, 1976
NBA High Game: 39, vs. San Antonio, Jan. 14, 1978
Bachelor

The predictions of several years ago that Moses Malone may be one of the top offensive rebounders of all-time have come true. Proof? Two years ago Malone led the NBA in offensive rebounds with a record 437 rebounds, while finishing third in the league in overall boards with a 13-1 mark, trailing only Bill Walton and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. But even more dramatic evidence of his work under the backboards was that he led the league again last season with 380 offensive rebounds — and he missed 23 games due to a stress fracture of the second metatarsal of his right foot. Overall, he was runnerup in rebounding, his 15.0 average trailing Truck Robinson's 15.7. The only Rocket chosen to play in last year's All-Star Game, Malone seemed to be just peaking when sidelined by the toe injury. In 21 games after January 11, he averaged better than 20 points and 16 rebounds while hitting better than .515 from the field. To use figures again, here's what he did in the last game he played, February 24, against the New Jersey Nets: 28 points, 24 rebounds, two blocks, 9 of 21 from the field and 10 of 17 from the free throw line. The youngest performer in last year's All-Star Game, this would be Malone's rookie season as a pro had he chose to attend the University of Maryland four years ago instead of signing a pro contract with the ABA Utah Stars. And that gives the last four NCAA champs — Kentucky, Marquette, Indiana and U.C.L.A. — something to think about. He made the ABA All-Rookie team with 18.8 scoring and 14.6 rebounding averages and when the Utah team folded he ended up with the Spirits of St. Louis. With the folding of that league, Malone was taken by Portland in the August, 1976 dispersal draft, was traded to Buffalo October 18, 1976, and came to the Rockets a week later. As a prep he led Petersburg, Va. High to a 50-0 record and two state titles. When he was named to the All-Star Game last year, Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke remarked of his 23-year old ace: "That won't be the last time he'll be on that team. He has the tools to become the greatest center in the history of the game if he wants to work hard enough to achieve that goal."



CALVIN MURPHY 5-10 165 Guard

Age: 30 Birthdate: May 9, 1948
Birthplace: Norwalk, Conn.
High School: Norwalk
College: Niagara, 1970
Years Pro: 8
How Acquired: College Draft, 2nd Round, 1970
NBA High Game: 57, Vs. New Jersey, March 18, 1978
Married: Wife Vernetta
Children: Tiffani, 8; Traci, 7; Calvin, Jr. 1

When the Houston Rockets and their fans held a "Calvin Murphy Appreciation Night" last March, the huge stack of greetings directed to the honoree, particularly those from players around the league, led one to wonder just how Calvin has never been named to play in the league All-Star game. But Calvin long ago quit worrying about things like that. As he said on his "night": "Tonight I'm seven feet tall and an All-Star." The recognition to him came in his eighth pro season, near the finish of perhaps his finest individual campaign. With the Rockets decimated by injuries, he was called on to pick up the scoring slack. He posted his highest average ever, 25.6 points a game, 5th in the NBA. But even more remarkable, in the final 33 games of the season, just after the All-Star break, he was the hottest shooter and scorer in the league, averaging 30.6 points while hitting .511 from the field and .953 from the free throw line. He missed only six of his last 128 free throws, ironically three of the misses coming the night he threw in his pro high and club record 57 points against the New Jersey Nets March 18. "His consistency was the most amazing I've ever run across," marvelled Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke. Or as Philadelphia's Julius Erving said in a note to Calvin on his night, "You have grown in the eyes of the public and in the eyes of your peers." The Rockets all-time leader in games, points, assists and steals, Murphy, along with Rudy Tomjanovich and Mike Newlin, is one of three remaining original Rockets who moved here with the team in 1971. He ranks as the third best free throw shooter in NBA history, his .880 career mark topped only by Rick Barry's .896 and Bill Sharman's .894. Murphy has been in the top ten in the league in each of his eight pro seasons, last season marking the fifth time he has been runner-up, his best ever .918 free throw mark trailing only new teammate Barry's best ever .924. Murphy's career point total of 12,032 coming into this seasons ranks him 50th on the all-time list, the only player among the top 50 never to have been in the All-Star game. One of the most popular players both in Houston and around the league, Murphy is very active in community work, particularly his efforts with the Marching Thunder Baton and Drum Corps, which he helped organize and continues to direct during many of his off hours.

MIKE NEWLIN 6-5 200 Guard

Age: 29 Birthdate: January 2, 1949
Birthplace: Portland, Oregon
High School: St. Francis (LaCanada, Calif.)
College: Utah, 1971
Years Pro: 7
How Acquired: College Draft, 2nd Round, 1971
NBA High Game: 38, at Kansas City, February 19, 1977
Bachelor

With consecutive game streaks of 213 and 200, and having missed only nine games in his previous six pro seasons, the injury jinx finally struck Mike Newlin last season. He broke his left index finger last December 14 against Los Angeles and missed 21 games, returning to the line-up February 1. Mike helped the Rockets to seven wins in their first 11 February games and was back in action for 19 games before a lower back strain sidelined him for the season March 8. During those 19 contests he averaged 16.1 points and 4.3 assists. His value to the team was perhaps expressed best by teammate Calvin Murphy, who said at the time of Mike's return last February: "We really missed Mike's personality when he was gone. He dives for the loose balls, he blasts through picks and goes charging around the floor. And before long, he's got everyone doing it." Along with Murphy and Rudy Tomjanovich, Newlin is one of three original Rockets who came to Houston with the club in 1971. The injury jinx hit Mike again at the start of this season, a fractured fourth metacarpel bone in his right hand putting him on the sidelines on the third day of training camp. Mike rates as the Rockets fourth all-time scoring leader with 7,702 points and is second in assists with 2,290. He placed fourth in NBA free throw shooting last season with an .874 mark and his .863 career percentage ranks him fourth on the league's all-time list. First on that list is teammate Rick Barry at .986, while fellow backcourt player Calvin Murphy ranks third at .880, giving fair warning to Houston opponents that putting the Rockets on the free throw line is courting danger. The second leading scorer, behind Billy McGill, in University of Utah records, Mike was the 24th player selected, in the second round, of the 1971 draft. His best scoring season was in 1975-76 when he averaged 18.6. With the loss of John Lucas to Golden State, the Rockets are looking to Mike to assume the point guard role, a position at which Mike has been an off-an-on starter over his seven-year career. That's just fine with Mike: "Whatever they want me to do, fine. If they want me to pass, if they want me to bring the ball up court, whatever."

ROBERT REID 6-8 205 Guard

Age: 23 Birthdate: August 30, 1955
Birthplace: Atlanta, Georgia
High School: Clemens, Schertz, Texas
College: St. Mary's (Texas), 1977
Years Pro: 1
How Acquired: College Draft, 2nd Round, 1977
NBA High Game: 29, Vs. Phoenix, December 17, 1977
Bachelor

"Considering that he came from a small high school and a small college," recalls Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke, "we figured on bringing him along slowly, about eight to ten minutes a game. With our injury situation he ended up starting 55 games and I would have to consider that under the circumstances he had a very good year." The coach is speaking of Robert Reid, the Rockets second round draft pick, 40th overall, a year ago. Reid ended up averaging 23.1 minutes a game, scoring 7.3 points and grabbing 4.5 rebounds. A first team N.A.I.A. All-American, Reed was a big factor in St. Mary's 95-29 four-year record, four conference titles and two fourth place N.A.I.A. finishes. He is his school's 4th all-time scorer with 1,509 points. "He turned out to be an amazing draft choice. He just needs to be more consistent, but he is willing to learn," says the coach. This summer the Rockets experimented with Robert in the backcourt in the California league and the coaching staff was quite pleased with the results as he averaged better than 20 points and 12 rebounds. "He took to the backcourt like a duck to water," says Nissalke, "so with the loss of John Lucas, I think he will see a lot of time at guard." "As long as it helps us make the playoffs, I'll do anything," says Robert. "A great thing about Robert is that he plays like a big man with his great rebounding, jumping and defensive ability, but he could really be something in the backcourt," says the coach. Another admirer of Robert's is teammate Calvin Murphy who remarked last season: "The thing I really like about him is that he always plays within his abilities, which is unusual for a rookie. You never saw him getting stuck trying things he can't do. He knows his limitations and avoids them. And he knows his strengths too and he's just starting to utilize them." After the injury to Rudy Tomjanovich, Robert broke into the starting lineup and quickly had three impressive games. Then he seemed to slump for a couple of weeks until finally breaking out again with a 29 point performance against Phoenix which included hitting 13 of 23 field goals, ten rebounds, three steals and two blocks.

RUDY TOMJANOVICH 6-8 220 Forward

Age: 30 Birthdate: November 24, 1948
Birthplace: Hamtramck, Mich.
High School: Hamtramck, Mich.
College: Michigan, 1970
Years Pro: 8
How Acquired: College Draft, 1st Round, 1970
NBA High Game: 42, vs. Buffalo, at Toronto, 1-3-74
Married: Wife Sofie
Children: Nicole, 5; Melissa, 2

After nine months of visits to plastic and oral surgeons and orthodontists, Rudy Tomjanovich is back to the visits he enjoys more, to the Summit and to opposition basketball courts. Having feared for a time his career may have been ended following a punch to his face by Kermit Washington of the Los Angeles Lakers December 9, 1977, Rudy "T" feels he's back to normal again. "I may need more surgery, but the doctors want to see how things go this season. I guess there are still problems in my nasal area," said the eight-year veteran. The tragic episode ended his season after 23 games, ending a string of four straight All-Star game appearances and four consecutive seasons of better than .500 field goal shooting. His career shooting mark remains at .503, ranking him ninth on the all-time list. The second player taken in the 1970 college draft, Bob Lanier was the first, Rudy was the little-used rookie with the San Diego Rockets but has been a fixture at a starting forward spot since the Rockets came to Houston the following year. He is second in scoring and rebounding on the Rockets all-time list, ranks first in field goal percentage, and fourth in assists and point average. Two small scars remain as evidence of the massive facial and eye damage he suffered. But Rudy says the experience taught him about living, and about winning. The doctors told him he was lucky to be alive. And he remembers what winning was like two seasons ago. "There's nothing like winning. Great stats are nice, but I want to see this team back where it was two years ago. Rick Barry is certainly going to help there. He brings a new dimension to our game and greater variety to our offense," says Rudy. Prior to this season, Rudy had been one of the game's more durable performers, missing only 17 games of 574 until sidelined for 59 last season. As a prep, Rudy led Hamtramck High to two state titles and went on to become the all-time rebound leader and second to Cazzie Russell in scoring at the University of Michigan. Along with Calvin Murphy and Mike Newlin, he is one of three original Houston Rockets, and he is back where he belongs, on the basketball court.

SLICK WATTS 6-1 175 Guard

Age: 27 Birthdate: July 22, 1951
Birthplace: Rolling Fork, Miss.
High School: Weathers
Junior College: Grand View (Iowa)
College: Xavier (La.) '73
Years Pro: 5
How Acquired: From New Orleans for 1st Round, 1981, Sept. 21, 1978
NBA High Game: 37, vs. Wash. 11-28-76
Married: Wife Deborah
Children: Antonia and Reggie, 8; Donald, 1

Despite a 17.4 scoring and 8.0 assists average as a senior at Xavier (La.) Slick Watts was not selected in the ten rounds of the 1973 college draft. Signed by Seattle as a free agent in 1973, he bacame a starter for the Sonics by the end of his second season, 1974-75, when he was 7th in the NBA in assists (6.1) and 4th in steals (2.3). In the final game of the 1975 conference semi-final, which Seattle lost to Golden State, he played 48 minutes, had 24 points, 11 assists and four steals, a performance which his coach, Bill Russell, termed "one of the greatest games ever played." The next year, 1975-76, Watts became the first player to win both the assist and steals titles, averaging 8.1 assists and 3.2 steals, and he was voted to the first team All-Defensive. He was also given the Professional Basketball Writers Association Citizenship Award for community involvement that season. In 1876-77 Slick placed second in assists (8.0) and 3rd in steals (2.7) and that year was named Man of the Year in the state of Washington. When Seattle signed free agent Gus Williams last season to go with Fred Brown and Dennis Johnson in the backcourt, Slick became expendable and after 32 games with the Sonics, he was traded to New Orleans for the Jazz first round pick in 1981. In his final 39 games with the Jazz after the January 4, 1978 trade, Slick averaged 7.2 points, 4.1 assists and 19.9 minutes playing time.

Alonzo Bradley was acquired Devember 22, 1977 when the Rockets sent Ron Behagen to the Indiana Pacers. Behagen had been obtained a week earlier from Atlanta for two second round draft picks. Bradley was a second round pick, 29th overall, of the Pacers in the 1977 draft but failed to come to contract terms. He had been playing for the undefeated Athletes in Action, a church-sponsored amateur team which plays a major college schedule. Alonzo was the leading scorer with a 19.7 average when summoned by the Rockets. In a Houston uniform for the first time Dec. 28 against Kansas City, he came off the bench to score 15 points and help the Rockets defeat the Kings. Expected to be used mainly in a reserve role, he started in 11 ball games during the rest of the season and averaged 7.0 points a game. He hit for 20 points three times, against San Antonio, Golden State and Denver. In 1977 Bradley averaged 23.6 points in leading Texas Southern to the N.A.I.A. championship and was named first team N.A.I.A. All-American and was the first TSU player ever named to the Associated Press' first team small college All-American. Under Coach Jackie Moreland at TSU, Bradley in two years became the 5th highest scorer in school history with 1,698 points.

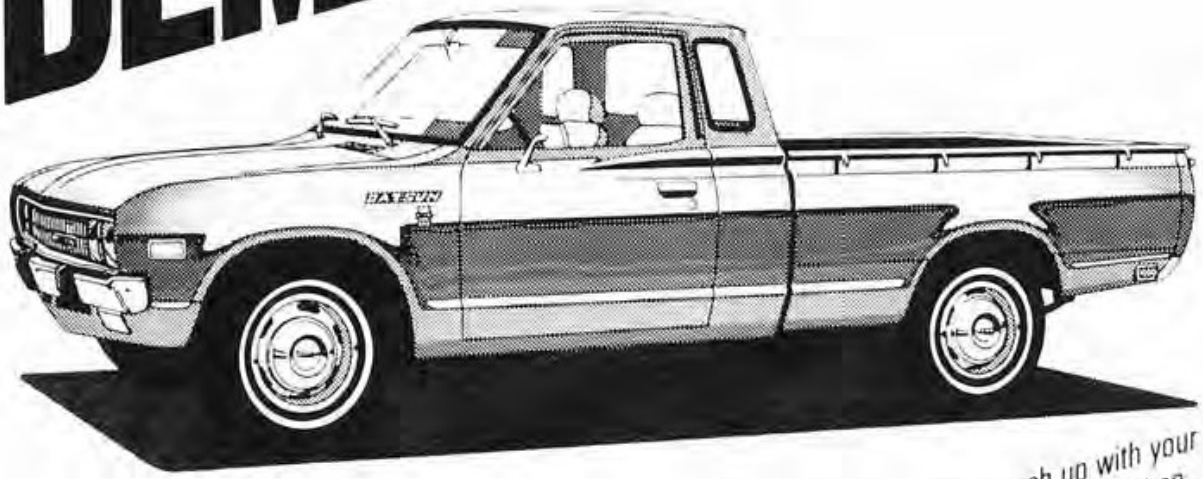
DON'T JUST ASK FOR EXTRA SPACE IN YOUR PICKUP, DEMAND IT.



Many economy sized pickups promise you savings. But at what price? Do you have to scrunch up with your knees under your chin, balance your groceries precariously on the seat, leave your valuables at the not so tender mercy of passers-by? Not when you have 11.3 cubic feet of storage space inside the cab you don't. And in our Datsun King Cab you do! It's the only small pickup with reclining bucket seats. With enough room for over-six-footers to stretch out in, with a place inside to stow the groceries and lock up your valuables. Whatever you do with an economy pickup, a King Cab gives you more to do it with. Lots more. And a test sit, stretch, stow will prove it to you. So come on in and sit, stretch and stow. Today.

DATSUN KING CAB.

NOBODY DEMANDS MORE FROM A DATSUN THAN DATSUN.
